Lahanti Last Mile Services Private Ltd.

Celebrating 6th Anniversary of ESAF Small Finance Bank

10th March 2023

We are what we are today, due to the sweat and blood of every ESAFian. We preferred sun over shade to fight the partiality of prosperity and champion the cause of financial inclusion to build the nation from its roots. We have expanded our boundaries to all corners of the nation through our 600 branches present in 21 states and two union territories. We serve more than 65 lakh customers through 488 ATMS, 1752 Micro ATMS, 448 Banking Outlets, 1367 Customer Service Points, 754 Customer Service Centres, and 14 Business Correspondents.

I would like to congratulate all ESAFians for being with this mission of spreading the Joy of Banking. Also, I would like to thank all the stakeholders and well-wishers, especially board members, investors, BC partners, and regulators for their support.

K. Paul Thomas
Founder, MD & CEO, ESAF Small Finance Bank

I extend my warm greetings to all of you on the occasion of the 31st Foundation Day of ESAF. It is my pleasure to address you all on this special occasion. As we complete another year of our journey, let us take a moment to reflect on our accomplishments.

I strongly believe that in order to bring about meaningful and sustainable change in society, we must start at the grassroots level. This is because real change must come from the ground up, not top down. We understand that the key to building a strong and prosperous nation lies in empowering and uplifting the most vulnerable segment of its population. At ESAF, we are committed to this mission.

We have always believed that our success as an organisation is inextricably linked to the success of the communities we serve. That is why we have built a strong network of financial services and community development programmes that are focused on reaching those at the bottom of the pyramid. Our 31-year legacy is built on the three fundamental principles of People, Planet, and Prosperity. Throughout our journey, we have unwaveringly adhered to these service ideals. Over the years, we have made a conscious effort to expand our outreach and serve the marginalised sections of society.

The emergency relief initiatives we undertook in flood-affected parts of the country, including Odisha and Maharashtra, bears witness to our commitment towards building a more resilient society. Our flagship annual cultural festival for children, Balajyothi Bal Utsav, is an example of our efforts to foster a culture of creativity and learning. We have also invested in the infrastructure development of rural schools and hospitals.

ESAF Small Finance Bank, which completes 6 years of its existence, has come a long way in fulfilling our vision. Today, it has a vast network of 600 branches, 3,000 customer touchpoints and over 5,000 employees spread across 21 states and two union territories. It has touched the lives of over 6.5 million families, and we are proud that our efforts have transformed lives and empowered communities. We have witnessed immense growth and expansion of our services while always keeping our commitment to social impact and sustainable development as our topmost priority. Our focus on financial inclusion and customer well-being has been the driving force behind all our initiatives.

ESAF Cooperative (ESMACO) continues to take a leading role in serving ESAF Bank's customers in remote areas, along with setting up agro-processing centres. CEDAR helps micro-entrepreneurs with market support.

As we move forward, we remain committed to our vision of creating a just and equitable society. I would like to extend my heartfelt gratitude to all ESAFians, customers, and stakeholders for their unwavering support and commitment towards our vision. Together, we have achieved so much, and together, we will continue to make a positive impact on society. So let us continue to work tirelessly, starting from the grassroots and building upwards, until we have created a society that is more just, equitable, and prosperous.

Warm Regards,

K. Paul Thomas

MANAGEMENT TALK

Generosity pays and reasonability matters significantly

The quality of being kind, not selfish and humane is generosity. Those who are generous take care of others, help them more than usual or expected. Nobility of mind and magnanimity are two important characteristics of generosity.

Generous people donate more, gift more...but generosity is not just of gifts, money, or contribution to charity. All those who are generous may not be rich enough to help others with money or gifts. Generosity cannot be exhibited by lending more than eligible. One can be generous in behavior, speech, actions, and responses. It is always believed that generous business leader is a great leader. What does it mean? Can a business leader show generosity always by extending financial help to others regularly or gift money or offer prizes? No, because, that would certainly depend on his or his organization's capacity as well. But, a leader's nobility of mind and magnanimity would be seen in his/her behavior, transparency in work, demonstrated curiosity to develop good practices, determination to end corrupt practices and wrongful actions, concern about the future of the team members, etc. A generous leader would encourage his team mates; not only get the works done by them; but show them the path to progress and carrier achievements.

We, as business men and women, have the responsibility to promote ethical conduct of business, fair practices in lending, good behavior towards all, and reasonability in conduct of business. As we focus in doing micro lending to the lowest strata of the society, generosity in approach and behavior is paramount.

Acceptable, genuine, fair, honest, humane, impartial, judicious, justifiable, legitimate, modest, prudent, and sensible actions and reactions by LLMS and its employees would prove that we are generous in thoughts, actions, and behavior, both as an institution and as individuals.

Reasonability in personal and official conduct, which is a prime factor of generosity would pay adequately, to the well-being of the institution and its employees, now and ever.

Mohanachandran K R, Managing Director & CEO

Capital and people are the two main resources that any organization requires to function. Microfinance institutions are especially attentive to operational financial hardship. Finance is important, but it is merely a tool in people's hands. Individuals manage money; it does not handle itself. Recruiting, training, maintaining, encouraging, and nurturing a team of employees that will successfully carry out the microfinance institution's goal depends on the tools and procedures used in human resource management. Enterprises will be prepared for expansion, equipped to handle the difficulties of a changing environment, and responsive to the requirements of customers if they develop solid, effective human resource processes and tools.

In LLMS, we strive to achieve the desired results by having an effective human resource management by using proper systems and tools to bring together the right number of people, with the right attitude and skills, in the right place at the right time. We do impart proper training to the new comers to have a thorough understanding of our activities and to help them succeed in their job. This will not only support LLMS to have a strong pool of human resources but will also assist in having a sustainable growth in the years to come. Of course, we do face challenges on the way, but overcoming those challenges is our motto."

Raju PV - Vice President - HR & Administration

LLMS' DHANASHREE program is a unique financial literacy initiative aimed at empowering individuals to improve their financial stability. Conducted at the grass-roots level, the program focuses on building knowledge and understanding of banking and finance. The primary objective is to help individuals make informed decisions about their finances, including savings, budgeting, and planning for the future. Supported by ESAF Small Finance Bank and powered by NABARD, the DHANASHREE program is regularly organized in seven different states. Over the past year, the program has reached out to 1000+ families and had more than 25000 attendees, with a total of 325 programs conducted. Through its financial education and support services, LLMS has made a positive impact on the financial well-being of program participants. LLMS is committed to serving the underserved and making a meaningful difference in people's lives. The DHANASHREE program is a testament to this commitment. By providing financial education and support, LLMS is working towards its goal of improving the financial stability of individuals and communities, one person at a time.

Life was never easy for Reshmi Rekha, a strong-willed businesswoman from Jharpokharia, Mayurbhanj. As a daily wage labourer, her husband struggled to provide enough for their four-member family. In short, every day was a battle for them to survive. As the future appeared bleak and hopeless, Reshmi decided to take matters into her own hands and soon launched a business of her own. For someone like Reshmi, who is from the lower strata of society, becoming a businesswoman was never an easy task. She believed in the age-old adage Where there is a will, there is a way she held fast to her dream and searched tirelessly for the required source of capital. As luck would have it, she came to know about the loan products offered by ESAF Small Finance Bank. Finally, she received the money from the bank when it mattered the most. Using the capital, Reshmi opened a grocery store in her neighborhood. The hard work she put in gave her rich returns in the form of regular customers and a thriving business. The success of the store motivated Reshmi to think big. Plans are on the anvil to take an additional loan and scale up. Her family is now able to live comfortably with the income from the grocery store. Reshmi is optimistic about her future and she is confident enough to chase her dreams. "ESAF Bank came into my life when I had almost lost hope in life. I will be forever Indebted to ESAF for being there for me when it mattered the most," concluded a happy Reshmi, Dumka, a quaint hamlet in Jharkhand, stands as a living testimony to ESAF Small Finance Bank's focus on transforming society by spreading the virtues of inclusivity.

The bank was largely responsible for bringing the benefits of banking to the rural population. No wonder, over the years, ESAF has become a household name among the villagers.

Maheshwari Mohali is one of the many villagers whose lives were transformed through ESAF. Her family is made of eight members which include three biological children and six dependent children. She is a member of the Mahli tribe, a tribe that is on the verge of extinction. The tribe's naiveness and lack of familiarity with the ways of contemporary society were the two main factors that led to their decline.

The womenfolk of the tribe are quite adept at multitasking as they meet their household responsibilities and entrepreneurial tasks with equal elan. They are particularly skilled in producing a wide range of bamboo based handicrafts that are beautiful as well as ecologically sustainable.

Despite being highly-skilled artisans, decent returns from their skills continued to evade them for a long time. The usurious middlemen used to take advantage of their naivety; they procured the products from the artisans at cheap rates and sold them at high prices, after ensuring higher margins.

Maheshwari's life was no different from other artisans. Her fortunes turned for the good one fine day, an ESAF member discovered her exquisite handicrafts. He quickly recognize her potential and offered her a chance to chisel her skills at the LIMS training facility, Dumka.

Prior to joining ESAF'S Programme, Maheshwari had no knowledge about the importance of savings or the formal methods to save money. After she joined LIMS, she learnt the benefits of opening a bank account and soon she became an account holder with ESAF Bank. Through LIMS's training, she was introduced to contemporary tools, designs and methods that were otherwise alien to her.

Before joining LIMS, the family struggled for survival and saving money for the future was a distant dream. With the support of ESAF, things turned around. Four to five years ago, the family used to earn only Rs. 3,000: Rs. 4,000 per month, today Maheshwari alone earns over Rs. 6,000 a month. Her children, who could not attend school regularly before were now enthusiastically pursuing their education. Her eldest daughter is in college while two other children are studying in an English-medium school.

Maheshwari was able to repair her mud house that used to leak during monsoons and she commenced the construction of a new pucca house for her family a year ago. Her husband who used to commute by bicycle has upgraded it to a bike. The list of the positive changes that ESAF has brought in Maheshwari's life in the past couple of years is truly remarkable. She is grateful to ESAF for mentoring her and turning her life around, "ESAF's mentorship has truly changed my life, I am thankful to ESAF for all its efforts in uplifting my community," concluded an ecstatic Maheshwari.

The G20 Logo draws inspiration from the vibrant colours of India's national flag - saffron, white and green, and blue. It juxtaposes planet Earth with the lotus, India's national flower that reflects growth amid challenges. The Earth reflects India's pro-planet approach to life, one in perfect harmony with nature. Below the G20 logo is "Bharat", written in the Devanagari script.

The theme of India's G20 Presidency - "Vasudhaiva Kutumbakam" or "One Earth · One Family · One Future" - is drawn from the ancient Sanskrit text of the Maha Upanishad. Essentially, the theme affirms the value of all life - human, animal, plant, and microorganisms - and their interconnectedness on the planet Earth and in the wider universe.

The theme also spotlights LiFE (Lifestyle for Environment), with its associated, environmentally sustainable and responsible choices, both at the level of individual lifestyles as well as national development, leading to globally transformative actions resulting in a cleaner, greener and bluer future.

The logo and the theme together convey a powerful message of India's G20 Presidency, which is of striving for just and equitable growth for all in the world, as we navigate through these turbulent times, in a sustainable, holistic, responsible, and inclusive manner. They represent a uniquely Indian approach to our G20 Presidency, of living in harmony with the surrounding ecosystem.

For India, the G20 Presidency also marks the beginning of "Amritkaal", the 25-year period beginning from the 75th anniversary of its independence on 15 August 2022, leading up to the centenary of its independence, towards a futuristic, prosperous, inclusive and developed society, distinguished by a human-centric approach at its core.
